

PROGYNY LAUNCHES “THIS IS INFERTILITY” PODCAST

April 24, 2018

NEW YORK, April 24, 2018 – Progyny, the leading fertility benefits management company, announced today the launch of its podcast, “This is Infertility.” Each episode is hosted by a different voice who brings their own unique point of view to the complex and ever-changing world of infertility. Our hosts are licensed clinical social workers, patient care advocates, clinical psychiatrists, reproductive endocrinologists, real fertility patients, and others who are experts in the world of fertility. We fuse narrative storytelling with experience and science to give listeners a new perspective on what it’s really like to go through the fertility journey.

To commemorate the debut, three episodes were released today.

Episode #1: National Infertility Awareness Week

For National Infertility Awareness Week, we examine what it’s really like to be infertile in America and we uncover how people can encourage companies, policy makers and health insurance companies to cover fertility treatment.

Host: Lissa Kline, Director of Member Services at Progyny

Guests:

- Barbara Collura, President and CEO of RESOLVE
- Marcy Maguire is a board certified Reproductive Endocrinologist, Obstetrician and Gynecologist, at Reproductive Medicine Associates of New Jersey.
- Tanmoy Mukherjee, co-director of Reproductive Medicine Associates of New York
- Mary Pharris, Director of Business Development and Partnerships at Fairygodboss

Episode #2: Recurrent Pregnancy Loss

Recurrent Pregnancy Loss (RPL) is a heart wrenching and physically difficult challenge many women and couples face when trying to start a family. We hear from Karin Ajmani, President at Progyny, who tells us her personal struggle with RPL.

Host: Dr. Georgia Witkin, Head of Member Services Development, Progyny

Guests:

- Karin Ajmani, President at Progyny

Episode 3: #SaytheFword – It’s Time to Break the Silence

Fertility is not a dirty word. In January, Celmatix, the next generation women’s health company, launched the #SaytheFword campaign to shatter stigmas and empower women to talk about fertility. It’s time to break the silence and support each other.

Host: Selena Campbell, Patient Care Advocate at Progyny

Guests:

- Karin Ajmani, President at Progyny
- Angie Lee, Chief Product Officer at Celmatix
- Millennial women in New York City
